Q: How is WexTrade Financial different from other trading programs?

A: WexTrade Financial is a professional trading organization that offers a variety of trading services and programs for professional traders, aspiring traders and military veterans. We also offer sponsorship programs for those who are interested in providing financial support for students or funds to trade which could result in significant returns. We offer hands-on instruction and mentoring from experienced traders, the most extensive curriculum, a proprietary trading platform and risk mitigation tools and a trading floor with latest cutting-edge technology. WexTrade Financial is the first trading organization to offer scholarships and other financial incentives to military veterans in addition to providing access to professional trading mentors, job placement services, and financial sponsors to help you start a career as a professional trader.
